PROUDLY PRESENTS

“Human Trafficking”

By

Dennis Solon, Vice President Florida Coalition Against Human Trafficking

Dennis and his wife Martha along with two of their four children moved from Dayton, Ohio, to Fort Myers, Florida, in July, 1984. He worked as a regional sales manager in central Florida for West Publishing, now Thomson-Reuters. He retired in December of 2001. Since his retirement he has written and published a book titled Just Call Me Jane.

Dennis presently volunteers for the Florida Coalition Against Human Trafficking. He is the Vice President of the Coalition and has trained over three thousand (3000) people including eight hundred fifty (850) first responders in the area of Human Trafficking. Dennis has been directly responsible for the rescue of two children and indirectly responsible for the rescue of two others.

In 2018 The Coalition awarded Dennis with the volunteer of the year award.
